2014 Asia Simulation Conference & The International Conference on Simulation Technology

October 26 – 30, 2014, Kitakyushu, Japan

First Call for Papers

The AsiaSim conference is an annual international conference that started in 1999, and had primarily been organized by the three Asian simulation societies, Chinese Association for System Simulation (CASS), Japanese Society for Simulation Technology (JSST), and Korea Society for Simulation (KSS). In 2011, the Federation of Asia Simulation Societies (ASIASIM) was set up, adding council members from Singapore and Malaysia, to promote the advancement of modeling and simulation in industry, research and development in Asia and beyond.

International Conference on Simulation Technology (JSST 2014), which is annually organized by Japan Society for Simulation Technology (JSST), will be held to disseminate progress in the state-of-the-art of simulation methods and report their applications in natural and social sciences. This event is to bring together outstanding researchers in modeling, simulation and scientific computing areas to share their expertise and experience.

We are soliciting original research papers in the areas below (but not limited to the list):

Modeling and Simulation Technology
High Performance Computing and Simulation
Simulation Related to Big Data
Parallel and Distributed Simulation
Verification, Validation and Accreditation
Visualization and Virtual Reality
Business Process Simulation
Simulation of Complex Systems

Network Simulation
Cloud Simulation
Agent-based Simulation
Distributed Virtual Environments
Symbiotic Simulation
Serious Games
High Level Architecture
